THURSDAY EVENING, April 28, 1870.

General business has been moderately active during the present week, and would have been better, with increased receipts of Flour, Corn and Oats, which have been much sought after to fill orders.

The demand for flour has been mainly confined to the lower and medium grades, with a fair sprinkling of choice extras and family brands, and prices have ruled quite firm, though no notable advance has been obtained.

Corn has again advanced, under the influence of light receipts and brisk demand, with favorable advices from other markets, and is now held firmly at $1.05 for strictly choice offerings.

Oats have sympathized to some extent with the advance in corn, and prime mixed are firm at $8c, and scarce.

Hay is dull, with large receipts, a considerable part of which is going into store. Lard and bacon have also advanced 2 cent per lb., with good demand and light stocks.

For the rest of the articles on our list there is no material change.

The regular sale of tobacco, at the Planters Tobacco Warehouse, was held today, and was a success in every respect.

The attendance of buyers was good, and the bidding unusually spirited, as was witnessed by the very satisfactory prices that were obtained for all the offerings.

We heard of no rejections. The sales, which comprised 51 hds., may be classified as follows:

5 hds. fronted bags, at $7.00 per cwt.

24 do. good bags, at .65 50¢ 65 95

24 do. shipping leaf, at 9.00 1.425

Flour—has been in continued good demand for medium and low grades, which are not offering very freely, receipts being unusually light. Holders are not pressing their stocks on the market, and are quite firm in their views. The sales reported comprised the following lots to the trade:
